

Abstract

The invention discloses a triangle automatic matching method to provide a unique and precise matching method that can be used to judge the similarity of two sets of planar points. The methods comprise of steps:(a) Generate the triangular elements and matching-related flag matrices. (b) Determine the triangle weighting value combined with triangle coarse matching. (c) Convert the coordinate. And (d) calculate the similarity.